

CRIME SCENE RECONSTRUCTION – MAPPING WITH THE TOTAL STATION

Instructor: Charlotte Braziel

We'll want to take whatever you've labeled one, and we'll start there.

Anybody need any water?

Yeah, I should probably get one. I've been dehydrated lately.

There's some over there.

Are you ready?

Yeah. You want me at the one.

Yeah, go to one.

You guys want me to grab you a water?

Yeah, if you would.

Can you grab me one too?

Yeah.

Thanks. All right. Ready? You can go to two.

Remind me, when I get done with this, to put in the log that we talk with the media and that we directed them to the PIO.

OK.

Am I going to get in your way of getting this footprint?

No. You're fine actually.

Are we going to-- we'll take pictures of the footprint?

Yeah.

Will we take the heel and the tow?

We'll take-- yeah, we'll take two points of that so we can map it in later. I got it.

Six is the gun. Seven? You have-- everything there is photographed?

Correct.

So when I'm done here, I'm going to start picking up some of the evidence. When we're done, we're going to bag and tag, all right? Because once you're done with the piece of evidence, you're done, right?

Yeah.

Once it's in the machine?

Yeah.

Yeah.

OK. Sorry.

It's all right.

OK. Is that everything?

I'm yeah, but we have to pick up stuff, so maybe we should leave this in place.

Yeah, I'll leave it just in case we find something else.

Underneath these leaves and stuff, we need to rake a little bit more careful. I just want to stop and do a review. We have the sketch done, right? You did a sketch of the evidence so far. We picked up trace evidence. You're doing the footprints. This piece of evidence is done?

Yes, photographed.

And I'm the sketch, so I'm going to start picking up some of that to get it out of our way.

OK.

OK, so I lost another pen. Does anybody know what I did with it?

It's right here.

Oh, not good. It's not what I lost, but-- I should be careful of this, huh?

Yeah. Here. Let me help you.

Oh yeah, the prism?

Yeah. Forget this technology, how important it is to take good care of it.

Yeah, that's fine. Do you need me to help with anything?

Yeah. Do you want to grab some bags, a paper for right now, a little bit bigger one?

Yeah, we do.

We'll get the shirt, get some gloves.

You have the evidence lab?

Yeah, [INAUDIBLE].

Yeah, I can mark on the bag.

You know what I need to do? Can you hold this? I did lose a pen again. Hey Ashley, do you remember what time that media guy came?

Probably about--

5 minutes ago?

--10 minutes ago.

10 minutes go.

Yeah.
